Benefits of Flea & Tick Preventatives for Pets

Did you know that it takes only a single flea bite to cause an allergic reaction in your pet? Tick and flea preventatives can do more than just eliminate your pet's itchy fleas and prevent allergic reactions. Flea and tick medications also prevent tapeworms, ticks, and other insects from biting your pet, and prevent fleas from getting inside your home, on your furniture, and in your bedding. It is much easier to prevent a flea infestation than to treat an existing one. Don't let your furry friend suffer from a flea infestation and don't let fleas get into your home.

BRAVECTO PROTECTS AGAINST:

- Flea allergies
- Hot spots
- Biting adult fleas
- Skin infections
- Tapeworms
- Lyme disease
- Ehrlichia
- Rocky Mountain spotted fever
- Fleas and ticks in your home

CPH DOG TRAINING TIP OF THE MONTH

WHY DOES YOUR DOG JUMP UP?

A dog leaping up to get closer to your face is simply saying 'hello' and looking for attention.

DON'T INCREASE THE EXCITEMENT

When you come home, don't talk in an excited, high pitched voice and don't look at or touch your dog until he is calm and all 4 paws are on the floor.

EXTINGUISHING THE JUMP

It sounds deceptively simple, but simply ignoring your dog when he is jumping by turning your back and looking away will eventually teach him that it no longer gets attention.

REWARD THE GOOD

As soon as all 4 paws are on the ground, look at your dog and tell him he is doing well. As soon as he starts to leap again, turn your back. Also be aware that a problem behavior often gets worse before it improves... SO BE CONSISTANT! Just remember, that as soon as all 4 paws are on the ground, reward him (with praise and eye contact), so he gets the idea.
